

"I have been associated with the Rogers/Michael house for over 70 years. This property was owned several generations back by my great, great, great, grandfather who purchased it and eventually gave it to Jim Rogers who was the caretaker of the family lands for many years. Even with the Coolidge family history and attachment to the buildings, I know when it's time to say goodbye.

SLCS has owned and managed conservation land for over 60 years, and I trust that they will manage this land with the respect and care that it deserves, even if the house is gone. The good news is that most of the area is now managed by conservation organizations. Much of that land was given to these groups by past family members for the express purpose of preserving the land so that members of the community could responsibly enjoy them...forever. I'm confident that SLCS's long term management of this property will continue that legacy."
